COVID-19 WORKFORCE RESILIENCE
SECURITY DURING THE PANDEMIC
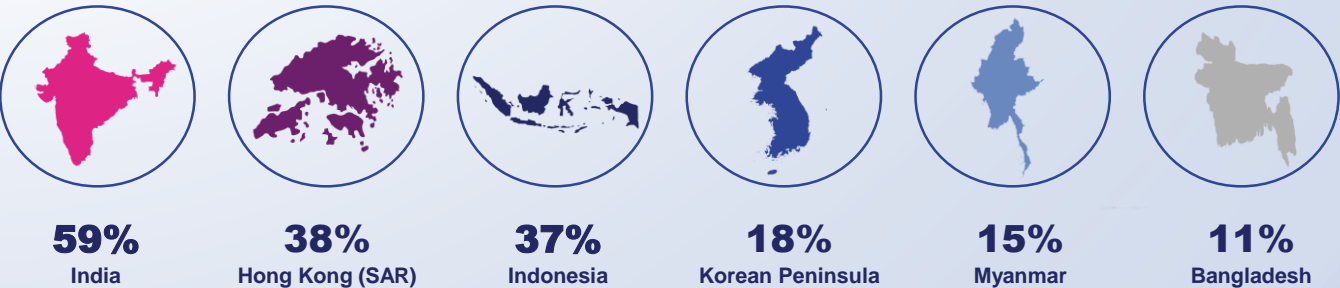

INTERNATIONAL SOS

Approaches taken by organisations in Asia Pacific to prepare for changes in the security environment

85% Ensuring access to accurate and timely information

60% Develop emergency response plans that reflect the needs of both domestic employees (local nationals) and international assignees

51% Providing security awareness training to our staff on the ground

51% Access to forward leaning risk assessments

47% Conducting Crisis Management or Incident Response exercises

Locations where organisations are most concerned about security environment

59%	38%	37%	18%	15%	11%
India	Hong Kong (SAR)	Indonesia	Korean Peninsula	Myanmar	Bangladesh

Organisations' biggest security challenges during COVID-19

58% Ensuring business continuity amid movement restrictions

55% Forecasting how COVID and the secondary security issues may impact our organisation

53% Adhering to varying official guidelines on safety and health practices

51% Staying up-to-date on changing travel restrictions

42% Understanding how COVID is impacting sites/assignees overseas

32% Reporting COVID updates to our board/crisis management team

32% Pandemic monitoring on top of everyday security tasks

27% Time spent researching COVID updates

25% Deciding if/when to bring assignees back home

23% Limited resources in-house to continuously monitor the situation

WORLDWIDE REACH. HUMAN TOUCH.

WWW.INTERNATIONALSOS.COM