

PREPARING FOR THE INTERNATIONAL SPORT EVENT IN QATAR IN 2022

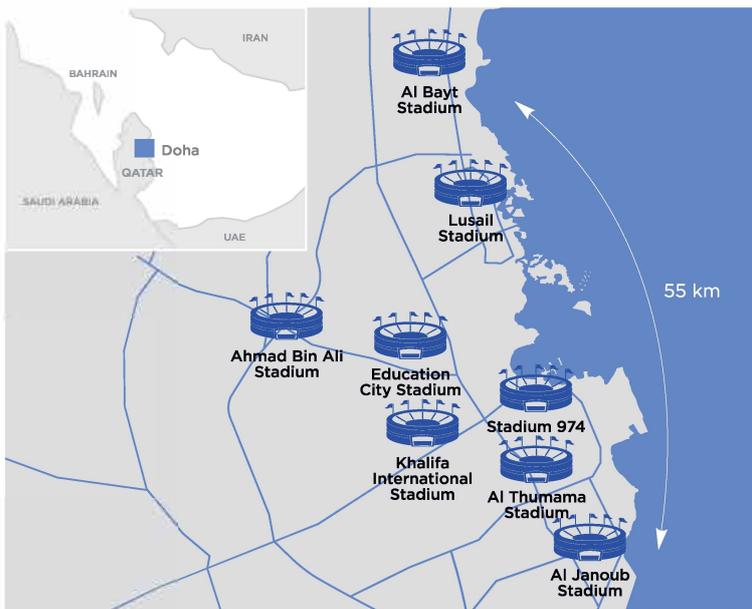

Looking After The Health and Security of Your Attendees

ABOUT THE EVENT

For the first time, the world's biggest sports tournament is to be hosted in the Middle East. A record-breaking number of around 1.5 million international attendees, which is over 52% of the country's population are expected to arrive in Qatar from November to December 2022. The eagerly anticipated competition will kick off in across eight close proximity-built venues offering the visitors an unprecedented opportunity of attending more than one match a day.

The influx of people and advantages of the venues' proximity however comes not without its challenges, which may range from accommodation availability, COVID-19 risks, logistical, language and cultural issues to possible impacts on the country's health care infrastructure. Mitigating the medical and security risks of your attendees requires expert support and assistance.

While Qatar is a low travel-risk country, there are potential challenges for foreign visitors coming to the country including:

- Accidents
- Illness/heatstroke/food poisoning
- Pandemic and infectious diseases
- Difficulty finding and accessing medical care
- Language barriers
- Cultural differences

To help you plan and respond to any emergencies or routine care that may arise, we have designed the Event Support Services to ensure that your attendees receive the highest standard medical, security and travel assistance.
